THE LATE DR. T. W. LEYS.

Report of the Council.

The Council has the honour of presenting the Annual Report for the Fifty-seventh year of the Institute.

MEMBERS.—At the beginning of the year the number of members was 448. The addition of 26 members elected during the year and the removal of 12 names, 3 by death and 9 by resignation, brings the present roll number to 462.

It is with very great regret that the Council directs attention to the death of Dr. T. W. Leys. Although engaged in several public activities, Dr. Leys gave generously of his time and attention to the service of the Institute and Museum. He was a member of the Council, of the Library Committee, and of the Citizens' Committee, to which we are indebted for the new War Memorial Museum, and was also one of the Committee of Adjudication which selected the design of the building. The Council has placed on record its appreciation of his services in the following resolution:—

“That the Council records its deep sense of the loss sustained by it and by Auckland Citizenship in the death of Thomson Wilson Leys, LL.D., for many years a member of the Council; and it extends to the members of his family its respectful sympathy.”

“The Council further records its high appreciation of the many and distinguished services rendered by the late Dr. Leys during fifty years to the cause of public welfare, particularly in the sphere of social advancement through education and culture.”

It is particularly gratifying that the memory of Dr. Leys is to be perpetuated in the Museum by the magnificent Edge-Partington Ethnological Collection, which has been presented by his daughter, Mrs. Selwyn Upton, and by Mr. W. Cecil Leys, and which is referred to in another part of the Report.

The Council has also the sad duty of recording the death of a benefactor of the Museum in the person of the Hon. J. B. Turner, M.L.C., of Suva. In 1921 the late Mr. Turner presented to the War Memorial Museum the whole of his extensive collection of Fijian ethnology. This will come to the Museum on the completion of the new building, where it will be a speaking tribute to the generosity of the giver, as well as a distinctive feature among the many treasures now coming forward for the new museum.

COUNCIL.—In addition to the vacancy on the Council caused by the death of Dr. Leys, another vacancy occurred through the retirement of Dr. Petrie. The Council, in very regretfully accepting Dr. Petrie's resignation, passed a resolution expressing its high appreciation of his long service. Dr. Petrie was President in 1895, Vice-President in 1896 and 1897, and a member of the Council almost continuously since that time.

The vacancies were filled by the election to the Council of Mr. W. Cecil Leys and Mr. F. Crossley Mappin.

FINANCE.—The balance-sheet shows that the receipts for the year, after deducting £461 12s. 7d. balance brought forward from last year, were £2,607 3s. 6d. This includes, however, the sum of £672 16s. 0d. received as special subscriptions towards the purchase of the Edge-Partington Collection, and the deduction of this shows that the receipts from the customary sources of revenue of the Institute amount to £1,934 7s. 6d. The expenditure has been £1,962 13s. 6d. The balance carried forward is £1,106 3s. 7d., of which £433 7s. 7d. represents the true working balance, after deducting the above-mentioned subscriptions for special purposes. The invested funds amount to £24,352 12s. 3d., in addition to which the Trustees hold without encumbrance the valuable freehold property in Princes Street.

MEETINGS.—In addition to holding public lectures during the session, the Council decided to reintroduce the Ordinary Meetings of the Institute for the presentation of original papers. Three of such meetings were held and twenty papers were read, comprising Astronomy 2, Physics 4, Chemistry 1, Botany 3, Zoology 6, Anthropology 4.

The opportunities thus provided for discussion of the results of research are welcomed by the members, and will doubtless encourage the prosecution of scientific work in the Institute.

The series of six public lectures was very well attended, the average number present being 250, indicating a keen appreciation of these addresses by the public. The thanks of the Institute are due to the lecturers for their services. The following is a list of the addresses delivered:—

1. "Colour in Nature," by Professor J. C. Sperrin-Johnson.
2. "Flames," by Professor F. P. Worley.
3. "Bird Life in the Auckland District," by Mr. R. A. Falla.
4. "The Birth and Life of Stars," by Professor P. W. Burbidge.
5. "Modern Conceptions of the Atom," by Mr. E. V. Miller.
6. "Insect Communities," by Mr. G. E. Archey.

ANTHROPOLOGY AND MAORI RACE SECTION.—The section held its third session during the past year. The membership roll showed 32, as against 18 in 1922, and 28 in 1923.

The Officers for 1924 were as follows:—Geo. Graham, Chairman; R. W. Firth, M.A., Hon. Secretary and Treasurer; Committee, Dr. P. H. Buck, Messrs. L. T. Griffin, J. H. Hudson, Professor J. C. Sperrin-Johnson.

The meetings of the Section were open to the public, and were well patronised by appreciative audiences. The lectures were followed by interesting discussions.

The Syllabus was as follows:—

June 16—"Survivals of Ancient Customs among Present-day Maoris," Geo. Graham, Esq. (Museum Library).

July 7—"Urewera Maoris of To-day," R. W. Firth, Esq. (with Lantern slides), (Biology Theatre, University).

July 22—Ordinary Meetings of Institute—Programme of Lectures and Exhibits by Anthropological Section (Biology Theatre, University).

July 28—"Maori Agriculture, Elsdon Best Esq. (paper read by Dr. Buck), (Biology Theatre, University).

August 25—"British Ethnology," J. H. Hudson, Esq. (Museum Library).

September 15—"Maori Bird Lore," R. A. Falla, Esq. (Museum Library).

October 6—"Maori Music," Elsdon Best, Esq. (communicated paper) (Museum Library).

October 27—"Maori Material Culture and Art," Mr. H. D. Skinner, B.A. (communicated paper), with Lantern slides (Biology Theatre, University).

November 17—"Maori Weapons and Their Use," Dr. P. H. Buck (Biology Theatre, University).

AIM Ann Report

1924 to 1925

The lectures were held either in the Museum Library or in the Biological Laboratory of the Auckland University. The Committee wishes to record its thanks for the use of these meeting places, as also to Messrs. Elsdon Best and H. D. Skinner for the lectures communicated by them. Most of the lectures were illustrated by lantern slides or specimens from the Museum collection.

The study of anthropology and ethnology must in future form an important part of the activities of the Auckland Institute in view of the large and valuable Maori and Polynesian collections in the Museum, which are rapidly being extended. To this end, the future welfare of this Section is much to be desired, and it is hoped that the increasing success which has attended its efforts will be continued.

LIBRARY.—£171 11s. 2d. has been expended on the Library during the year. The large amount of binding required has necessitated the use of a less expensive, but no less secure, type of covering than that hitherto used, but there still are many important periodicals which should be bound if they are to be preserved intact. New books have been purchased at a cost of £73 12s. 10d., and subscriptions to periodicals have absorbed £77 13s. 4d.

The Journal of the Royal Anthropological Institute, and "Man" have been added to our list of periodicals, and "The Ibis," which had been discontinued for some years, has been re-ordered. In addition, many valuable presentations and exchanges have been received, and we have to thank the donors of these publications for their helpful generosity.

In order to provide room for the new books and papers, several shelves were cleared by storing certain publications which it is considered are not likely to be required at present, and a re-arrangement of the books under subject headings was made. The stored publications are, however, still readily available for the use of members.

MUSEUM STAFF.—Mr. G. E. Archey, who was appointed to the position of Secretary and Curator in February last, assumed his duties on May 1st.

The Assistant Curator, Mr. L. T. Griffin, was granted leave of absence during the year, to enable him to proceed to South Africa for the purpose of selecting a large number of animals for the Auckland Zoological Park. It is expected that Mr. Griffin will resume his duties at the Museum in March. The Council further relieved Mr. Griffin of some of his Museum duties to enable him to undertake the Curatorship of the Zoological Park.

The attendance at the Museum on Sundays and the nine holidays was less than last year, being 22,102, as compared with 27,133. During the visit of the naval squadron to Auckland the Museum was thronged with visitors, the average attendance being over 1,000 per day during the eight days. The ordinary week-day attendance has been good, while parties of school children are frequent visitors. Training College students have also attended under the guidance of the Curator. The Museum is greatly indebted to Dr. Buck for his interest in arranging for parties of visitors to attend the Museum. At his instigation the Samoan Faipules made a special visit to the Museum, where they had the pleasure of Dr. Buck's personal guidance through the Maori section. On this occasion the visiting chiefs were welcomed at a special meeting of the Council, and were presented with the clothing and weapons of a Maori warrior for exhibition in the newly-established Samoan Museum.

On a later occasion the members of the Native School Teachers' Association attended the Museum, and they also had the benefit of Dr. Buck's anthropological knowledge during their visit.

PAN-PACIFIC CONFERENCE.—It is hoped that the opening of the new War Memorial Museum may be made the occasion for the holding of the Pan-Pacific Science Congress in Auckland in 1928 or 1929. The New Zealand Institute, which is the controlling body in such matters, has agreed to send the necessary invitation, providing suitable arrangements can be made. The holding of this important conference in New Zealand would be a most encouraging stimulus to scientific workers in the Dominion, and, by the public interest which it would arouse, would bring about closer relations between science and the needs of the community, as well as strengthen the peaceful bonds between the races of the Pacific.

THE MUSEUM BUILDING has required considerable attention. Repairs to the roof and the renewal of the greater part of the guttering have involved an expenditure of £81 15s. 0d., but it is confidently hoped that this expenditure will not recur.

The year has been a most notable one with regard to the acquisition of specimens. No less than 167 separate gifts have been recorded, marking the generosity and practical interest in the Museum of over 150 citizens. The Council has very great pleasure in directing attention to six gifts of important and valuable collections. In July, Mr. William Sutherland, I.S.O., presented a series of 48 ethnological specimens from Fiji, including one of the interesting paddle-shaped clubs, ornamented with carving undoubtedly done by a Maori who must have visited Fiji at the beginning of the last century. In August, Mr. A. C. Caughey gave an important collection of Melanesian ethnology, comprising 140 articles chiefly from the Solomon Islands and Fiji, among them being a large club formerly belonging to King Thakambau. The ethnology of Northern Melanesia is admirably represented in a fine collection of most excellent specimens from the Bismarck Archipelago, given by Mr. R. A. Meek. Mr. H. Shaw has added to his many previous gifts by presenting the valuable collection of Satsuma ware which he deposited in the Museum seven years ago, and during the present month he added to it two especially fine pieces of porcelain and bronze.

The Maori Collection has been enriched by the generous gift of Messrs. Samuel Vaile & Sons, Limited, of 120 rare pieces, chiefly bone and greenstone, collected in the North Auckland district. They include Meres, Tikis, Pendants, Chisels, Poria, Pekapeka, and fishing implements, as well as a fine Taiaha, cloaks, a perfect whale's bone comb, and the beautifully carved historical feather box named Putea-a-Raka. The last of the six collections to be referred to here represents one of the most notable additions that have been made to ethnological collections in New Zealand museums. When it became known that the famous Edge-Partington Collection, held in London, comprising over 2,000 catalogue items of Australian, Melanesian, and Polynesian Ethnology was for sale, a public meeting was convened by the President to consider the possibility of its acquisition for the War Memorial Museum. The result was that nearly £250 was subscribed in the room, and within a few days nearly £700 had been received towards the purchase. At this stage Mrs. Selwyn Upton and Mr. W. Cecil Leys intimated their desire to present the Collection to the Museum as a memorial to their father, the late Dr. T. W. Leys. This most generous offer was gratefully accepted, and the subscribers to the original fund showed that they shared the Council's appreciation of this most appropriately-given memorial to our late honoured member and fellow citizen, by offering to divert their subscriptions to the acquisition of other important collections by the Museum.

The Society wishes to express its hearty thanks to the donors of these gifts, as well as to those who have given so many separate articles at different times. Among the latter, mention should be made of an ancient Chinese bronze incense burner, given by Mr. H. E. Vaile, of many Pacific and New Zealand articles presented by Mr. Vaile, Mr. Kenderdine, Mr. Geo. Graham, and Dr. Buck; of the beautifully carved taiaha, once the property of Hone Heke, presented by Messrs. Alexander and William Geddes, and, in the Zoological section, of the important addition of the types of new species of Mollusca by Mr. A. W. B. Powell.

All these gifts indicate the great interest in the Museum shown by the citizens, who clearly realise the importance of making the collections worthy of the War Memorial Museum.

WAR MEMORIAL MUSEUM.—In several previous Annual Reports the projected War Memorial Museum building was referred to at length. The preliminary work proved arduous and prolonged, but the Council was recently in the happy position of being advised by the Citizens' Committee controlling this important project that the work of erection on Observatory Hill, Auckland Domain, had commenced, and that the building will be carried to completion with the utmost expedition.

The Citizens' Committee decided to call for tenders returnable on 8th July, 1924, on which date a contract was entered into with the Hansford & Mills Construction Company, the price being £183,654; the building to be completed in July, 1927. Already considerable progress has been made, the excavations having been completed and much of the concrete portion of the foundations laid. It has been arranged for the ceremony of the laying of the foundation stone to be performed by the Rt. Hon. the Prime Minister on a date to be arranged as soon as Mr. Massey can visit Auckland. As indicated in the last Annual Report, certain questions regarding future administrative matters have been receiving the Council's attention. The decisions arrived at in this connection are embodied in the Auckland City Council and Auckland Museum Empowering Act passed during the last session, whereby the Auckland City Council is empowered to support the maintenance of the Museum by means of a special rate, while representation on the Council of the Institute and Museum is given to the City Council by the addition to the former of the Mayor and six members of the latter.

It is confidently hoped that under the enlarged council, representing a wide range of public and scientific interests, the Institute and Museum will make such further progress as will establish them as most important agents for the promotion of science and culture in our City.

CONCLUSION.—The Council, in conclusion, appeals to the citizens for a continued and widened interest in all the activities of the Institute and Museum. The Museum is one of which the city may justifiably be proud, founded, as it was, fifty-eight years ago by the public-spirited pioneer citizens of that period, whose work has throughout the intervening years been perpetuated and extended by successive groups of similarly minded men. The Museum has the potentialities of taking a leading position among institutions of its kind in the Southern Hemisphere; but to attain this objective a wide and practical interest on the part of the citizens is essential.
